The great pole contests have been played, and the Astor Cup goes to Massachusetts, but whether ancontest will be had on the Prospect Park grounds is a point about which there is mu condition of the ground when Tues-The lumpy condition of the ground when luca day's game was played called forth many unfavor mments, and while neither side gained any advantage in consequence of the erratic course of the ball, all hands were put to the test to play a came worthy of the records they had made. The infortunate accident to Mr. Keene, the Rockaway's star player, was the only thing which marred Friplayer, was the only thing which marred Friscontest, and no one regretted it more than the pla players. The social world of the Greater-fork was well represented, and the space ded to coaching turnouts was crowded with lihy and fashionable people. The season of well-is is at hand, and announcements of engagets are coming thick and fast, while those people are especially active in the work of combin-pleasure with charity are putting on their war and and preparing for an aggressive campaign on time and pocketbooks of their friends and the rall public. That their efforts will be rewarded success is a matter of course, and those who part in the various plans already under way as they have in the past, get the worth of money.

Mrs. J. Elliott Langstaff has begun preparations a repetition of the successful Halloween dance which was managed by her last season. The affair is to be held in the Pouch Gallery, and the Red Cross Society w'il be the beneficiary. It is under-stood that there will be some novel features intro-duced, and while the decorations of the gallery will include a liberal display of fall vegetables and other things with which tradition has connected the evening, the chief point of interest will be a group evening, the chief point of interest will be a group of fortune-teliers, the entire conservatory being devoted to the uses of these adepts in the mystic arts. The favors will be pretty, there is a promise of good music, and a cotilion will mark the end of the festivities. This affair, however, is not the only one which Mrs. Langstaff has on hand, as she is the head and front of a movement to have a big Russian festival in the Academy of Music on the evenings of December 11, 12 and 13, for the benefit of the Diet Dispensary. The comedy, "A Russian Honeymon," in which the young women of Packer are at home, will be one of the features of the programme. Russian songs and dances will form a considerable part of the entertainment, and a number of famous Russian paintings will be reproduced in tableaus.

The fashionable Long Island wedding of the week will be that of Miss Helen Rosalie Remsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phoenix Remsen, to Woodruff Sut-Thursday at noon. The marriage is to take place in the Episcopal Church at Babylon, and Bishop Littlejohn is expected to officiate. Beside the Bishop, the bride's great-uncle, the Rev. Dr. Du hep, the bride's great-unce, the Rev. Dr. Du the Rev. Mr. Moran, rector of the church, and the Mr. Bridges will be in the chancel. Miss Wagstaff Colgate is to be maid of honor, and ice Barnard, Miss Alica Lee Post, Miss Lilia and Miss Louise De Peyster Webb, brides-William Floyd-Jones, of Massapequa, will man, and Frederick Floyd-Jones, Francis M. The engagement is announced of Miss Annie P. Lynes, daughter of S. C. Lynes, of New-York, but formerly of the Heights, to Charles Merritt Fleil, son of Mrs. Anna Field, of Hicks-st. Both are well known on the Heights, and both were guests at the Mason Camp, on the Lower Saranac, in the Adirondacks, this summer, the announcement being made soon afterward. The Lynes family moved to New-York about a year ago. Mr. Fie'd is a member of the Hamilton and Crescent Athletic clubs.

The engagement of Miss Lillian Hawthorne, daughter of Mrs. E. M. Hawthorne, of Lincoln Place, to August E. Pfarre has occasioned considerable interest on Prospect Heights. Miss Haw thorne is well known as a society girl, and is an ardent bicyclist and a good horsewoman, as well as an enthusiast in outdoor sports in general. Mr. Pfarre is also a familiar figure in social life and has many friends.

The wedding of Miss Helene Gray and Mr. Frank Candvello will take place during the coming month Announcement cards are out for the marriage of Miss Ethel Brown Hommel, at Saugerties, N. Y., on September 21, to J. F. Barringer, one of the teachers of rhetoric in the Polytechnic.

Those organizations known as the women's clubs the year with an ardor which is increased by their The Women's Health Protective Association has already had its opening meeting, and this winter will attack the garbage question. The first meeting of the Brooklyn Women's Club will be held the 14th of next month, and work on the regular programme will be begun. Lodging houses and college settlements will have the floor, and Mrs. Julia Parsons and Mrs. Truman J. Backus will be their leading exponents. Mr. Pops has sent to the club a beautiful portrait of his late wife, Mrs. Abby Pope, painted by Benjamin Constant. The Civitas will devote a good deal of attention to college settlement work and Miss Edna Doughty, the new president of the club, who has been working in a New-York settlement, will utilize her experiences in forwarding the plans of the Civitas in this direction. The first regular meeting will not be until November 1. The meetings of other clubs will be as follows: The Photereons, first Wednesday in October 1, the Urban, on October 8, and the Women Suffragists on the third Tuesday in October at the Wilson rooms in Pierrepont-st.

Miss Alice Louisa Green, of McDonough-st., and will attack the garbage question. The first meet

COLOR PRINTS AT PRATT INSTITUTE. A selection of the color prints made by Arthur W. Dow is now on exhibition at Pratt Institute. These prints attracted a great deal of attention when they were shown in the Japanese corridor of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts last spring. They are made in colors from wooden blocks by method long confined to the East, and developed by Mr. Dow after close study of the work of the best Japanese artists. It will aid in the intelligent is carved in the block by the artist, colored and printed by him, and that the entire work is accomplished without any mechanical interference. great advantage of the method is that the block great advantage of the method is that the block conce carved need not be drawn again, and the artist is free to use his originality in a new color scheme for every print that he makes. To see "the Ipswich River and the Distant Marshes" done in "breezy blue," then again in blue and orange, and still again in blue, red and green, is to have seen three distinct pictures.

The application of this method to illustration should, to quote Mr. Fenollora, "for all but scientific purposes supersede lithography and photographic reproduction. It strengthens the artist's constructive sense in that it forces him to deal with simple factors. It stimulates the faculty of design. We can think upon our sketch the selfsame impression we design to press or wear with our cloth. It cannot reduce quality, cheapness and meanness, because it must at every print utilize individuality. If its originality be questioned, we may well ask where in the West has anything like this been seen before. Mr. Dow's application of it to Western expression and use is an epochmaking event."

making event."

The Pratt Institute is first to introduce Mr. Dow to the art-loving people of New-York, and it is hoped that they will not be satisfied until they have seen some more complete exhibition of his work. Mr. Dow is to be connected with the art department of the institute during the coming year as a teacher of design.

BROOKLYN NEWS NOTES.

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN

George P. French, at present principal of Pub-lic School No. 66, in Brownsville, has been chosen principal of the truant school, which is to open on October 4.

James E. Gannon, of No. 227 Albany-ave., reported to the police yesterday that David McLane, a Bergen-st. line motorman, who boarded with him, had disappeared with $35 which Gannon had saved up in order to open a restaurant.

Fire in the drygoods store of Robert McManamy, at Nos. 197 and 199 Myrtie-ave, early yesterday morning caused an estimated damage of $10,000. The premises are owned by R. J. Carman. The loss was fully covered by insurance.

The newly elected officers of the Bedford Riding Club are James W. Lingard, president; Miss M. E. Lynch, vice-president; Dr. Thomas A. York, treasurer, and Miss M. Lowery, secretary.

The cornerstone of St. Matthew's English Lutheran Church at Sixth-ave, and Second-st., of which the Rev. W. E. Main is pastor, will be laid this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The building committee is composed of Mayor Schieren, J. F. Hildebrand, Louis Luckenbach, William Middendorf and Henry D. Heisenbuttel.

Leonard J. Nelss, the restaurant proprietor ar rested on Friday for abducting Miss Blanche Martin, of No. 557 Macon-st., was arraigned before Justice Harriman in the Gates Avenue Police Court yesterday and committed in default of $2,000 ball for examination. Nelss is a married man with a family, and the Martins say that their daughter was coaxed away from their home by Neiss, who lives at No. 773 Putnam-ave. Mrs. Neiss has been in the White Mountains all summer, but returned last night.

Dr. Talmage will preach twice in Brooklyn b he leaves for Washington, once in the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian and once in the Central Presbyterian Church. His farewell sermon in Brooklyn will be preached on October 20. The following Sunday he will preach in Washington.

An elderly woman, evidently demented, was found wandering about the streets near the Broad-way ferries by Policeman Schaefer, of the Fifth Precinct, yesterday, and taken to the station, where she gave her name as Mrs. Ann Manning and said she was fifty-six years old. She gave half a dozen addresses, but no one knew her at any of them. She is now waiting to be claimed.

AT THE BROOKLYN THEATRES. In "The Merry World," which to-morrow evening

egins a week's engagement at the Columbi Theatre, the original big burlesque company which first produced the piece in New-York City will appear. First comes a burlesque on the Napoleonic play of "Sans Gene." From this travesty the audience passes to a round of comic opera. Then foilows a rollicking travesty on "Trilby." "The Merry World" lacks nothing in the way of pretty girls with strong voices, elaborate scenery and costumes and a large chorus. Palmer Cox's spectacular fairy tale, "The Brownles," will be the atraction at the Columbia during the week begining October 7. Theatre, the original big burlesque company which

Miss Marie Wainwright will appear this week at the Park Theatre, presenting for the first four nights and Wednesday matinee the powerful society drama, "Daughters of Eve," written for her by A. E. Lancaster and Julian Magnus. The cast bas been greatly strengthened by the engagement of Barton Hill, Hattle Bussell and Gertrude Elliott. Nathaniel Hartwig remains the leading man. On Friday and Saturday nights and at the Saturday matinee Miss Wainwright will be seen in an elaborate revival of Sheridan Knowles's famous comedy, "The Love Chase."

"The Land of the Living," a London succes, will be given all this week at the Amphion, with the usual matinees.

Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll will deliver his lecture "Which Way?" at the Columbia Theatre tonight for the first time in Brooklyn. The Columbia box office will be open at 10 e'clock this morning for the day.

TRANSFERS BY WHOLESALE,

THE EXTENSIVE SYSTEM ADOPTED BY THE BROOKLYN HEIGHTS COMPANY.

BLE AT MORE THAN THIRTY DIFFERENT

HOW THE NEW ARRANGEMENT

HAS BEEN GRADUALLY INTRODUCED. One does not have to be a very old Brooklynite and membership in the Old Brooklynties' Soctety is conditioned upon a residence of fifty years in the city-to recall the time when on the streetcar lines of Brooklyn there was just one point where a passenger could transfer from one line to another without the payment of an extra fare. That was at the intersection of Flushing and Classon aves., where for years a certain individual stood on the corner with transfer tickets in his hand which he doled out none too willingly to those who asked for them. The transfer tickets were good in only one direction; people going uptown in Flushing-ave, could take a Greenpoint car in Classon-ave., and those on a Greenpoint car going downtown had the privilege of riding in a Flushing-ave. car going toward Fulton Ferry.

Why this arrangement was made no one seemed to understand, for certainly a single transfer point was contrary to the policy of the Brooklyn Railroad Company, which had a monopoly of travel over the greater part of the city and did not hesitate to take in as many five-cent pieces as could be squeezed out of its patrons. In those days it had no occasion to cater to the public by supplying a superior service or granting exceptional privileges. People who wished to travel about the city had no choice but to take its cars. Why it should transfer passengers free at even a single place was a mystery which the public never tried to penetrate.

Then, nearly ten years ago, came the elevated the population independent of the surface lines, One of them, too, built a number of branches and granted the privilege of riding over all of them in return for the payment of one fare of five cents. Indeed, so liberal is the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad Company that with a little ingenuity, by changing cars here and there and walking from one side of a station platform to the other, one could ride forever in its cars after paying in a single nickel. Such a system, of course, tends to attract travel, but the surface lines in Brooklyn have been slow to act upon the hint. It ought, perhaps, to be added that continuous travelling on the lines of the Brooklyn Elevated road would not be possible without the numerous intertrack stations which it has constructed.

THE NEW PLAN.

A year or two ago the Brooklyn City, or Brooklyn Heights, Company decided to allow free transfers at a few points where its lines intersect, greatly to the convenience of the travelling public, but no general transfer system was adopted until the recent change in management occurred, when a old method of transfers an employe of the company stood on the street corner where a transfer station was established and handed out tickets to those who applied for them. This was expensive, since a man had to be stationed at all hours of day and night at every transfer point, and besides it permitted some shrewd and unscrupulous people to take advantage of the company at hours when many people were travelling, and secure transfer tickets by mingling with the bona fide passengers and getting carried for nothing.

The new management decided to place all transfer tickets in the hands of the conductors and to cause passengers to ask for transfers at the time of paying their fare. The extra burden on the conductors is considerable, and it took some little time to educate them to the new responsibility. Hence the new system was put into operation gradually, beginning soon after July 1, this year A few transfer points were first announced, and as the public and the conductors became accustomed to the new method these were added to from time to time, until now more than one hundred transfers can be made from one line to an-

the new Crosstown-Meeker-ave. line, running in Myrtle-ave. The Gates and Putnam ave, lines permit the same transfers; the Flatbush-ave, and Third-ave, lines, those in the vicinity of the City Hall; from Myrtleave, transfers can be taken to the Court-st., Montague-st., Nostrand-ave. and Tompkins-ave lines, and also to the Reid-ave., Ralph-ave., Broadway and Jamaica lines of the Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban Railroad Company, all these last at the junction of Myrtle-ave, and Broadway; the Flushing-ave. line gives transfers to the Nostrand-ave, and Tompkins-ave, lines, and likewise to the Greenpoint line at Classon-ave., the Union-ave. line at Throop-ave, and the Bushwick-ave, line at Graham-ave, and Meserole-st. #### the company which they intersect. AN EXTENSIVE SYSTEM.

The list here given does not purport to be com plete, but the details mentioned convey a fairly full idea of the extensive system of transfers which has been adopted by the Brooklyn Heights Comeither direction from the points named. That the system should be carried still further is the opin ion of some of those who have watched the development of the company in this direction with interest It has plainly been the intention of the company to prevent the forming of circuits which would enone fare, or to start from a certain point and return one who studies the system with care may see that it is possible on the lines of this company, as well as on those of the Brooklyn Elevated road, to travel forever for a single fare.

The public convenience would be served by the provision of transfers between the crosstown lines running to the Willink entrance of Prospect Park running to the Willink entrance of Prospect Park and the Flatbush-ave, line running down through the Twenty-ninth Ward, though it would not be necessary to give transfers in the downsown direction from the point of intersection. Then, again, transfers from the Fulton-st., Gates-ave, and Putnam-ave, lines should be given to the Flatbush-ave, and Fulton-st.

The transfer tickets given out by conductors are punched to indicate the line on which they are to be used, and the time of transfer is also indicated; the tickets are not good longer than ten minutes after the transfer point is reached, but, of course, such a rule has to be construed with some elasticity.

FIFTEEN MILES FOR FIVE CENTS. It is possible by the system of transfers to ride say, from the old city line at Sixty-fifth-st to East New-York or to the terminus of the Flatbush line for a nickel, or from the same place to Hunter's Point or Maspeth. These distances are from twelve to fifteen miles. Thus far the increase in travel on account of the new arrangement has new system has scarcely had time as yet to be trolley-cars by the city authorities subsequent to the strike last winter has had a serious effect on

Is plainly an account travel.

The arrangement of the details of the new system and the instruction of conductors have failen mainly upon Colonel T. S. Williams, the new secretary of the company, and have involved a good deal of labor. It was all the more difficult before the company with Brooklyn; and it

Thus far no attempt has been made by the Heights Company to arrange transfers with the other radicad companies of Brooklyn, save in the case of those already mentioned to the lines of the Queens County and Suburban Company which are intersected by the Myrtie-ave, ine at Myrtie-ave, and Broadway, It is to be hoped, however, that similar arrangements can be made in time with the Atlantic Avenue and DelCaib Avenue companies. The latter has a transfer arrangement between ite two line, which intersect at De Kalb and Franklin aves, and the Atlantic Avenue Company allows transfers between its several lines which have a common meeting point at Atlanticave, and Boerum Flace.

AN ENTRA THREE-CENT FARE GIVEN UP.

AN EXTRA THREE-CENT FARE GIVEN UP The Heights Company, by-the-way, intends or October 1 to abandon the extra fare of three cents now charged on its Flatlands line after passing be yond the old Flatbush boundary. A three-cent fare formerly was collected from all passengers riding beyond the old city line, just below the Willink entrance to Prospect Park, but it was given up even before the annexation of Flatbush to the city. After the extension of the line to Flatlands an extra fare of three cents was collected, against the protest of most of the people who had to pay it. The residents of Flatlands will henceforth be carried all the way for five cents. The decision of the company in this matter will no doubt stimulate the people of Fort Hamilton, Bensonhurst and other villages in the newly annexed section of Brooklyn to renewed attempts to have the additional five-cent fare which they have to pay after passing the old city line done away with.

A BIG SUIT AGAINST THE CITY. Charles Hart, the contractor, has begun a suit against the city of Brecklyn for the recovery of $102,855 for extra work done by him on Section No. 7 of the new aqueduct extension at East Rockwile Centre. Hart completed a contract satisfactorily and was paid the contract price of $509,544 22. He says now that this was not enough, and wants pay for extra pumping, $40,000; removing certain muck, $35,000; building gate houses, $13,500, etc.

TO FORM AN INTERNATIONAL CLUB. A NEW FEATURE OF WOMAN'S WORK AT THE

There will open to-morrow at the Brooklyn Armory, at Flatbush and Atlantic aves., the fourth Food and Health Exposition, which will have at this latest function a feature new to the record of woman's work. It is an international club of women workers. Through the courtesy of the directors space has been given to an organization of women, American and foreign, who are forming an international association for the protection and promotion of women's work in inventions, arts and handicrafts. A few days after the opening of the exposition a committee of practical workers will be ready to receive in the temporary clubroom any and all women, without regard to creed, race, nationality or color, who have any idea or completed work of public utility to offer which it is desirable the work of should know, and who may desire to confer in the matter of united action. The list of women inventors alone is 4,000. Through their representatives they have expressed their resolve to form a union that shall be universal, having its main house in New-York, where women may come for conferences, information, legal advice and co-operation in the exhibition and sale of patents, inventions and handicrafts.

Shortly after October 1 the committee will issue a printed programme giving a description of the aim and scope of the organization and the details of the preliminary pian of action. this latest function a feature new to the record of

KILLED HIMSELF THEOUGH FEAR OF STARVING. Coroner Creamer yesterday held an inquest on the case of John F. Graf, a cigar manufacturer, who shot himself in the head Friday at his home, No. 161 Covert-st. The suicide was forty-two years To one unfamiliar with Brooklyn the system cannot but seem rather confusing. It is not so in reality, however. In general it may be said that a least can be had wherever two lines of the Heights Company cross each other, but owing to the conformation of the city and to the fact that
